OUR STORY

We love barbecue. We love preparing it, we love serving it, and we really love eating it. Before founding their namesake restaurant in 1985, Nick Pihakis and his dad, Jim, spent endless hours perfecting "low and slow" cooking techniques and recipes for mouth-watering meals made from scratch. These recipes and traditions continue to be passed on to local owners, pitmasters, and cooks who keep the smoke rolling. But more than recipes, Jim and Nick have also shown us the value of honest food, the joy that comes from a hard day's work, and the true meaning of Southern hospitality.

So, to us, bar-b-q is more than meat and sauce. It's our heritage. And it's the coming together of genuine people who have a passion for food that warms the soul and the desire to go the extra mile—for our guests and for each other. We think the food we serve says a lot about who we are, what we believe, and the experience we want to share with you.

Today, Jim 'N Nick's Bar-B-Q has become a Southern tradition. For those of us who work here, there is no place else we'd rather be. And when you're here with us, we'll go the extra mile to make sure you feel the same way.

We are proud to support the Southern Foodways Alliance in their mission to document, study, and explore the diverse food cultures of the changing American South. southernfoodways.org
